PMO Nashville October Luncheon Webinar - The Berlin Airlift

October 19 @ 12:00 - 1:00 PM

The Berlin Airlift was the first round of the Cold War, and a shooting war with the Soviet Union was a very real possibility. In early 1948 the Soviets closed off all land and water transport routes, to Berlin, from western Germany. This left only a slender air bridge to supply the western allies and 2.4 million German civilians in West Berlin. The western political and military establishments believed the airlift would fail. But one man had done this before and believed that an airlift could succeed. This is the story of one of the most difficult but ultimately successful projects of the 20th century.

Jim Benvie PMP, is a speaker and consultant, with TyauvinOn Solutions LLC. Project Management. Jim, "The History PM," believes that project managers can learn valuable lessons from history. Many of his presentations combine elements of both history and project management, with topics as diverse as, a medieval struggle for independence, to a 20th-century humanitarian operation.
